

Lord Cultural Resources looks to Deltek Vision® to Streamline Operations

Toronto, Canada – July 8, 2008 – Kennedy Vomberg Inc is pleased to announce that Lord Cultural Resources has selected the Deltek Vision project-based business application. The internal selection committee at Lord Cultural Resources chose Vision from amongst a number of industry specific solutions as the ‘best in class’ application to support their extensive global operations.

“With a network of offices in Toronto, New York, Paris, Madrid and Beijing, and assignments in 42 countries on six continents we need to ensure that our internal structures are as efficient and effective as possible,” remarked Janet MacLean, Director of Human Resources and Knowledge Management, Lord Cultural Resources. “We feel that Vision will help us to streamline our accounting, project management, and company resource planning processes while breaking down information silos that have evolved throughout the years. We are excited about the possibilities that this solution offers and look forward to using it to its maximum capabilities.”

“We’re extremely pleased with Lord Cultural Resources’ decision to move forward with the Vision solution. It is apparent that there will be several areas where Vision will add incremental value to their business operations,” said Don Kennedy, Principal of Kennedy Vomberg. “It is also gratifying to see that Deltek’s strategy of growing their business through regionally based implementation consulting practices, such as ours, was a key determinant in the committee’s decision in favour of Vision.”
